

 WHITE RABBIT

MENU

$5

Princess Flower Tea

White tea leaves are wrapped around jasmine and amaranth flowers in a ball that blooms in hot water.

Jin Xuan (Milk Oolong)

Milky flavoured tea from Taiwan's high mountains.

Yin Zhen (Silver Needle)

Yin Zhen is the most esteemed of all the white teas, which are subjected to minimal heat and left unrolled.

Zhu Ye Qing (Bamboo Leaf Green Tea)

Grown on sacred Mount Emei, this prized tea can be infused many times without loss of flavour.

$4

Wuyi Shui Xian (Wuyi Narcissus)

From the Wuyi mountains, where some tea bushes are 300 years old, Shui Xian has a natural floral fragrance.

Bai Mu Dan (White Peony)

With dark leaves coated with fine white hairs, this lightly processed white tea ranks just below Yin Zhen.

Li Zhi Hong Cha (Lychee Red)

This tea has a rosy fragrance and a subtle fruity taste; the heart-shaped lychee is a symbol of romance.

Chrysanthemum and Goji Berry Tea

Chinese herbalists believe this tea cools and detoxifies the body and nourishes the eyes.

$4.50

Tie Guan Yin (Iron Goddess of Mercy)

A classic oolong with dark ("iron") leaves.

Mei Gui Oolong (Rose Oolong)
